

State is created with a unique lineage

From the same configuration code another state file is created with a differing lineage

Attempting to use state from one lineage in the context of another lineage will causes problems even if the two states share the same serial number